OUR SERVICES:

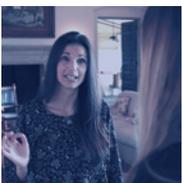

INTERVENTION: Every person and situation is unique, and as such, many intervention clients don't fit into a box or existing intervention method. In these cases, creative strategies are needed to get the person out of a crisis situation and safely into treatment. Our out-of-the-box approach to intervention means that we'll do whatever it takes (within the boundaries of the law, ethics and safety for all involved) to get them into treatment and on the path to wellness.

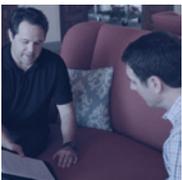

ASSESSMENT: If you are not in need of an intervention and are simply seeking guidance on appropriate treatment options for your loved one, we're here to help. We understand that reaching out for help to find treatment for your loved one can be challenging, and we're here to help you secure the best line of treatment for your loved one and their particular presenting problems, whether they struggle with addiction, mental health or co-occurring disorders.

CARE MANAGEMENT: The time immediately following treatment can be a challenging one for many individuals in recovery and their families. At Alchemy Consulting Group, we offer care management to support our clients through the sometimes tumultuous road of early recovery and build a bridge between clients, families and support services. Every care management plan is customized to meet the individual needs of our clients.

RECOVERY COACHING: A recovery coach specializes in providing in-person day to day transitional support for individuals in the process of positive change. Our coaches draw from their own personal and clinical experience in recovery, offering strength-based support to assist clients in obtaining and maintaining recovery.

ADMISSIONS CONSULTING: Alchemy Consulting Group brings over 20 years of admissions experience to our consulting practice, and we work with treatment centers to improve and fine-tune their admissions process.
